MARCH 2019 NEWSLETTER

Dear Patron,

Four months of winter weather down; just two more to go! We're 2/3 of the way there (if we're lucky)! But in the meantime, you'd better stock up on some fun reads to get you through those last few snowstorms (see below for some great suggestions). And while you're at it, bring home a puzzle and a movie or two. March storms can be long!

In addition to the above mentioned books, movies, and puzzles, I would like to draw your attention to some "new" old resources. The Rangeley Lakes newspapers from 1895 through 1897 are online and available for viewing through the Digital Maine Repository. Click here to check it out. Our library has recently received permission from the Sun Media Group to digitize The Rangeley Highlander, so our collection of Highlanders, going back to the late '50s will soon be available and fully searchable online as well. The Maine State Library has the equipment for scanning, and I will be travelling down to Augusta one day this month to learn how to use the equipment and to figure out the scope of our project. Once we have some idea of how much time will be needed to digitize the whole collection, we will either be looking for volunteers to help do the scanning or for some sponsors to fund a temp worker who could come in and do the scanning for us. If you have an interest in getting this piece of Rangeley's history online and available to the general public, as well as some time or money to put into this project, please let me know. Together we can make this project a reality!
